What is a Cold Email?

A cold email is a professional email sent to someone you have never contacted before to introduce yourself, apply for a job or internship, request a referral, or explore career opportunities. It should be personalized, concise, and professional.

Why Cold Emails Work

Cold emails work because they help you reach recruiters, hiring managers, or employees directly instead of waiting for your application to be noticed. A well-written and personalized cold email can increase your visibility and create opportunities for interviews or referrals.

Uses of Cold Email

Cold emails can be used to:

- ✓ Request a referral.
- ✓ Apply for a job or internship.
- ✓ Connect with recruiters or hiring managers.
- ✓ Build your professional network.
- ✓ Ask about job opportunities.

Before Sending a Cold Email

Before sending a cold email, make sure you:

- ✓ Prepare an ATS-friendly resume.
- ✓ Update your LinkedIn profile.
- ✓ Research the company and recipient.
- ✓ Personalize your email.
- ✓ Use a professional email address.
- ✓ Proofread for grammar and spelling.
- ✓ Attach your resume (if required).

Tip: A personalized, well-researched email is far more likely to get a reply than a generic, mass-sent one.

Mistakes to Avoid

Avoid these common mistakes:

- ✓ Sending the same generic email to everyone.
- ✓ Writing a long or confusing email.
- ✓ Using an unprofessional email address.
- ✓ Sending emails with grammar or spelling mistakes.
- ✓ Not researching the company or recipient.
- ✓ Forgetting to attach your resume (if required).
- ✓ Asking for a job without introducing yourself.
- ✓ Sending too many follow-up emails.

Common Use Cases of Cold Emails

Cold emails are commonly used for:

- ✓ Cold Email for Job & Internship Application – Apply directly to a specific job or internship opening.
- ✓ Cold Email to Recruiter – Connect with recruiters and express your interest in relevant job or internship opportunities.
- ✓ Cold Email to Hiring Manager – Introduce yourself to the hiring manager and express your interest in a specific role.
- ✓ Cold Email to Startup Founder – Reach out to startup founders to explore job or internship opportunities.
- ✓ Follow-up Cold Email – Politely follow up if you haven't received a response within 5–7 days after your initial email.

How to Address the Recipient

1. When the recipient's name is known

- ✓ Use this when you know the recruiter's, hiring manager's, or employee's name.

Example: Dear Priya Sharma,

2. When the recipient's name is unknown

- ✓ Use this when you are applying to a company but don't know the specific recruiter's or hiring manager's name.

Example: Dear Hiring Team OR Hiring Manager,

3. When you are contacting a recruiter

- ✓ Use this when you are specifically reaching out to a recruiter but don't know their name.

Example: Dear Recruiter,

Important Points

Please note the following:

- ✓ To use these cold email templates effectively, make sure you have the email address of an employee, HR professional, recruiter, or startup founder working at the company you are targeting.
- ✓ Customize these templates according to your profile, skills, and the role you are applying for.
- ✓ If you have relevant work or internship experience, you can also mention it in your email.
- ✓ A good cold email can help you stand out, but it does not guarantee a response from an HR or recruiter. Your resume, skills, experience and the company's hiring requirements also play an important role in the shortlisting process.
- ✓ After purchasing, please download and save this document on your device before your access expires.
